Goals for today

- 1 We want you to leave today armed with additional context and research focused on:
  - Benchmarking data
  - Analytics
  - Building a foundation for growth
- 2 Connect and exchange ideas with other university leaders.
- 3 Leave with tactical and strategic ideas you can implement on your campus.

Shifting Trends for the Traditional Student Population

Changing demographics will create winners and losers in enrollment management.

The pie is shrinking, and we need to be ready.

What new initiatives have you added to engage with students or parents?

How are you keeping up with content and channel expectations from students and parents?

Key takeaways

- Demographic shifts are underway, and a strong strategic plan is necessary for growth.
- The cost of an education is a detractor for some students and should be addressed in the search phase (more on the analytics of this later).
- To be competitive, we must meet students where they are and not expect them to follow the same predictable path as students in the past.
- What are other key takeaways from this session?

Guiding Questions

Planning for Student Success

- What does student success look like at your institution?
- How do you measure student success?
- To what extent are you meeting the goals that you have established to-date?
  - Are these goals appropriate for the specific populations you wish to impact?
- What barriers exist in working toward your goals?
- How do you communicate progress toward and achievement of student success goals?

Key Findings from our latest research

- Students at two-year community colleges have higher satisfaction than students at four-year private and public institutions.
- Students at their first-choice institution have higher satisfaction than students attending their second- or third-choice institution.
- Cost, financial aid and academic reputation are top factors in the decision to enroll for students across institution types.
- Campus climate items (how students feel at the institution) are strongly linked with overall satisfaction levels and the likelihood to be retained.
- The quality of instruction, the availability of faculty outside of the classroom, timely feedback on student progress and access to classes are areas that are very important to students.
